Letter Of Recommendation

It is a proud moment for me to write this letter of recommendation for my student Mr. Arjun Chauhan. I have known him since the first year of his engineering program and instructed him in the subjects of Data Structures and Design and Analysis of Algorithms. From my observation of him, I can say that he is a sincere, responsible, and hardworking student with a keen interest in the field of technology. His technical know-how is sound; possesses strong coding skills and demonstrates an eagerness for gaining more knowledge in terms of developing codes from different algorithms being discussed during lectures.

He pays attention to all the lectures, has always been regular with attending his classes as well as practical sessions, and consistently secured excellent scores. In addition to academics, he participates with enthusiasm in class and often shares intellectual insights. In team tasks, he does not mind helping his team; would extend his support to his team members in situations of difficulties and is always available to back his colleagues. Overall, he is affable and due to his helpful nature, he is always put in high regard by his juniors and managed to garner praises from them.

Under my guidance, he has undertaken a project to develop path-finding algorithms visualizer that visually demonstrates path-finding algorithms (BFS, DFS, Dijkstra, A*). He was the leader of this project, led the group with amazing strategic thinking and showed a willingness to include even contradicting opinions from his colleagues. His leadership style in a way was a reflection of his mature thought process as he looked to accomplish the overall objectives associated with the project and was focused on team-building and guiding his team with the required knowledge to achieve success.

Being a versatile personality, he fervently participates in various extra-curricular activities and was among the top ten performers in an intra-college coding contest. He is also an active member of the college programming club and was involved in organizing events held at college.

On strength of his talent and desire to learn, I believe he is ready to pursue this master course, have confidence in his capabilities, and am pretty sure that he will successfully learn all the skills taught within the structure of this course. I, therefore, recommend him to your institution without any reservations.

Dr. Vikas Sharma
Associate Professor
ABC College