Letter Of Recommendation

It gives me immense pleasure to write in support of Mr. Aadi Choudhary. I have known him since (mention year) and in my interactions with him over time, he came across as an assiduous student with a mature thought process and an ability to conduct extensive research.

He was passionate about developing technical skills and in his quest for acquiring proficiency did not mind putting in extra time and effort learning new concepts. His affinity for solving problems and optimistic attitude of keep going without getting undaunted even when faced with the toughest of the challenges were notable, and as a student set him apart from the others. He is a creative thinker and views things from a different perspective, a quality that assists him in devising pragmatic solutions. Often being interactive during discussions, he has regularly contributed with accurate analysis and innovative ideas and consequently has been able to develop a reputation of being the go-to person for suggestions on complex issues.

Under my guidance, he has completed a project related to heat exchange analysis between phase change material and heat transfer fluid for a specific structure. In this project, he collected the data of temperature readings between these two materials throughout the heat exchanger to develop the design for heat exchangers and subsequently developed the final design of heat exchangers using MS –Excel, and Tableau. Working on his tasks, he performed meticulously and at the same time extended his support to his peers facing difficulties. Furthermore, he significantly stood out in terms of his perseverance as he never stopped at a hint of failure and was flexible to experiment with multiple approaches.

Additionally, he was fervently involved in extra-curricular activities and served within various student bodies including, an ISO certified International Techno-Management organization of ABC College, "Pragyan". In his role as the co-head, Kunal, he prepared a comprehensive budget, incorporated finer details such as insights from previous years' data, footfall for each event, and identifying optimized locations for all the events reduced the overall cost by 10 percent vis-à-vis last year budget. He was also the event manager for the XYZ festival and during the event, impressed everyone including me with his leadership qualities and organizational skills.

I think this course will provide him opportunities to gain in-depth knowledge on (mention stream) and assist in building a promising career. I, therefore, endorse his application for admission.
